Why are verbs important?

---

Write as many different verbs as you can for cooking in the box. One has been given as an example for you.

A recipe is a type of instructions.

Look in a cookbook or search online to find a recipe.

1. What do you need to have as part of a recipe?
2. How does the recipe make the steps clear and easy to follow?

You are going to write your own recipe for how to make your favourite sandwich.

Remember to include all the ingredients first so that your reader knows what they need.

You should also number your steps.

Use clear verbs to explain what you want the reader to do.
